

APRIL 2026

BY ISABEL SHEPHERD

Alignment Audit

CLARIFYING POSITIONING, STRENGTHENING VALUE, IMPROVING CONVERSION

Gildre

Try Pitch

Strong product. Strong brand strategy. Weak alignment.

Gildre has a clear and differentiated brand strategy centred around high-impact connections and active growth facilitation.

However, the current website does not reflect this positioning. It leans toward a generic “community” perception, which is directly impacting conversion and pricing perception.

Strong foundations already in place

- ^A High-quality network (founders, mentors, speakers)
- ^B Clear demand for founder-to-founder connection
- ^C Messaging around “invite-only” and founder journey resonates
- ^D Product delivers real value (mentorship, intros, support)
- ^E Internal alignment on what is being sold

Where things are breaking down

- ^A Positioning disconnect (community vs growth partner)
- ^B Perceived value gap (price vs understanding)
- ^C Lack of clear member journey (features vs outcomes)
- ^D Conversion friction in user journey
- ^E Information hierarchy + clarity issues
- ^F Brand execution misalignment

Try Pitch

Positioning Disconnect

Gildre is positioned as a community, not a growth partner.

Observation

The website emphasises community, events, and connections, while the brand defines Gildre as a curated growth network and active partner in founder success.

Opportunity

Reframe positioning to focus on:

- GTM support
- Scaling insights
- Real founder journeys

Outcome

- Clear differentiation
- Stronger perceived value
- Reduced confusion on arrival

Reframe Gildre as:

A curated network that actively helps founders navigate growth, not just a space where they connect.

Perceived Value Gap

Users don't fully understand what they're paying for.

Observation

Users hesitate due to “paying for community” despite valuing the quality of founders and mentors.

Opportunity

Make value tangible and reinforce trust:

- Show outcomes, not just features
- Emphasise access + speed + quality
- Bring trust signals forward

Outcome

- Higher willingness to pay
- Increased trust early in journey
- Stronger perceived ROI

Value is there,
perception isn't.

No Clear Member Journey

Features are clear, the journey is not.

Observation

Users understand individual features (mentorship, events, connections) but not how they translate into growth.

Opportunity

- Introduce a clear “path to value”:
- What happens in the first 30/60/90 days
 - How members progress
 - What outcomes to expect

Outcome

- Faster understanding
- Increased confidence
- Stronger sign-up intent

Frame Gildre as:

A structured growth journey,
not a collection of features

Conversion Friction

Current journey adds unnecessary friction.

Observation

Application form-led flow lacks reinforcement and feels like effort.

Competitors favour call-first, human-led journeys.

Opportunity

- Introduce “Book a call” as primary CTA
- Strengthen pre-conversion pages
- Reduce perceived effort

Outcome

- Higher conversion rates
- Better quality leads
- More effective sales conversations

Shift to a more human-led conversion flow.

Current: Homepage → Application form

Suggested: Homepage → ‘Membership’ page → Calendly Call

Information Hierarchy

Too much information, not enough clarity.

Observation

Content is long, repetitive and lacks a clear narrative flow.

Opportunity

Restructure into a clear, guided story so it feels intentional, not overwhelming.

Outcome

- Faster comprehension
- Reduced drop-offs
- Improved engagement

Short, punchy headlines

Trust signals in hero

Who it's for in hero

New Homepage Structure

Switch from feature-led to outcome-led

Restructure into a clear, guided story

1. What it is
2. Who it's for
3. Why it matters
4. Proof (Member stats, outcomes, testimonials)
5. How it works
6. CTA

Adopt:

- Shorter sections
- Clear headings
- Progressive disclosure

Outcome:

- Reduced cognitive load
- Faster comprehension
- Improved engagement and scroll depth

HERO

- Sharp headline "What Gildre is"
- 1-line subhead "Who it's for"
- Primary "Book a call" CTA
- Trust Signal (logos or stat)

WHY IT MATTERS

- Outcomes (not features)
- Speed, clarity, access

PROOF

- Member stats
- Founder logos
- Testimonials (categorised for easy UX)

HOW IT WORKS

- 3-4 step process
- Or 30 / 60 / 90 day journey

Stand Alone CTA

- Primary: "Book a call" > calendly link
- Secondary: "Become a member" > Membership Page

Brand Review

The brand strategy isn't reflected visually.

Observation

- Typography lacks cohesion with logo
- Imagery feels posed, not “in action”
- Colour system lacks warmth
- Gold usage conflicts with modern positioning

Opportunity

- Refine typography to match logo tone
- Shift imagery to real, active scenarios
- Introduce warmth into palette
- Remove gold, lean into carbon-led premium

Outcome

- Stronger premium perception
- Better alignment with target audience
- Clearer differentiation from competitors

Tone of voice misalignment

Observation

The brand voice is designed to be direct and high-signal, but the website delivers a more softened, generic version of that tone.

Opportunity

- Sharpen messaging to be more direct and outcome-led
- Reduce repetition and length
- Replace generic language with more specific, high-value phrasing

Outcome

- Stronger authority and credibility
- Higher perceived value
- Faster understanding and improved conversion

Brand Tone

Confident. Direct. High-signal.

Website Tone

Diluted. Wordy. Generic.

Same message. Stronger delivery.

GENERIC

“Gildre is the home for founders who execute. We provide the network and playbooks you need to build with certainty.”

GENERIC

“Members gain access to meaningful connections, curated events and valuable insights to support their growth.”

GENERIC

“Gildre members represent founders and leaders across every industry.”

HIGH-SIGNAL

“Get direct access to the people and insights you need to build with certainty.”

OUTCOME-LED

“Make faster, better decisions with access to founders, operators and conversations that actually move your business forward.”

PREMIUM

“Build alongside founders solving the same problems as you, at your stage.”

Core Insight

“

Users already believe in the quality of Gildre’s network and value of building alongside other founders.

However, the website currently communicates a lower-value “community” offering, rather than a structured, high-impact growth experience.

Where to focus first

- ¹ Clarify positioning in hero and early sections
- ² Reframe value from community → outcomes + access
- ³ Introduce a clear member journey
- ⁴ Optimise conversion flow (call-first approach)
- ⁵ Strengthen trust and credibility early

Recommended next steps

Step 1: Lock Homepage Direction

- Finalise messaging hierarchy
- Define core conversion journey
- Align on structure and positioning

Step 2: Apply Across Key Pages

- Membership page (conversion-focused)
- About page (trust + credibility)
- Consistent layout, hierarchy and flow

Step 3: Visual Refresh (Phase 2)

- Refined layout and spacing
- Updated imagery and visual direction
- Colour and typography alignment
- Final design applied across all pages

PHONE

+44 (0) 7718 901030

PORTFOLIO

isabel.lloyd-jones.com

SOCIALS

Instagram

LinkedIn

EMAIL

isabel.lj@hotmail.co.uk

Thanks!